AZTECS:

Rulers members of the PIPILTIN, class of nobles, who could own land in their own name. Their children attended special schools to learn the reading and writing of glyphs, as well as religion and TOLTECAN cultural arts.

MACEHUALTIN - ordinary citizens. Got trade school course in farming (for communal lands) and warfare; a few became artisans and merchants.

MAYEQUES - serflike SLAVES.

An outstanding soldier could attain special rank, a low born woman might marry a noble.

A luckless merchant could sell himself or his child into slavery, either temporarily or permanently.
